

Adaptable Workplace Workshop: Latest Trends in Workplace Design

The job market is tight and interior design is competitive! Set yourself apart with unique skills and knowledge that will give you a value-driven advantage over your competition.

Humanscale is sponsoring a workshop featuring internationally renowned ergonomics expert, Professor Alan Hedge – exploring human factors and anthropometrics as they apply to commercial interiors, and their relationship to sustainability and productivity. You will glean expertise and techniques that will enable you to demonstrate a direct connection between your designs, their human impact, and the potential investment returns they can create.

This session:

- Demystifies anthropometrics and explores the ergonomic approach to design
- Highlights the growing trend in green design and explains the U.S. Green Building Council's LEED Rating System
- Defines the relationship between productivity and green, function-focused design, and offers valuable techniques in productivity measurement
- Provides hands-on interaction with ergonomically correct seating and workstation tools.

About Humanscale

Humanscale is the premier designer and manufacturer of ergonomic products for a more comfortable workplace. Humanscale's award-winning selection of seating, monitor arms, keyboard supports and other ergonomic tools are based on the belief that if a design solves a problem as simply and elegantly as possible, the resulting form will be honest and timeless.

About Professor Alan Hedge, PhD, CPE FHFES, FErgS, FIEA

Director of the Human Factors and Ergonomics program at Cornell University, Professor Alan Hedge is an extensively published, internationally recognized expert in ergonomics. Professor Hedge has appeared on numerous television shows, including the Today Show, Weekend Today, the Early Show and NOVA, and has been featured in Time, Business Week, the Wall Street Journal and the New York Times.

ASID/LA "The Coming Out Party" for Emerging Commercial Interior Designers

American Society of Interior Designers, ASID/LA "The Coming Out Party 2010" ("COP") is a bold event to celebrate and welcome Southern California's emerging commercial designers into the professional design community, and educate them in a fun and interactive way.

When

Saturday, April 17, 2010
10 a.m. – 2:30 p.m.
Lunch will be provided.

Where

UCLA Dodd Hall/121

REGISTRATION

This Design Smart Seminar is an UCLA Extension Course and the registration must go through UCLA Extension. To register, please visit www.uclaextension.edu and search for "Adaptable Workplace."

Enter Reg# V6383B for all students and V6379 for General Public. Limited number of scholarships available.

COST

$25 for General Public

$10 for Interior Design Candidates (a student ID from any school required at the door).

CALIFORNIA
LOS ANGELES

